Charles Seyfang, a mechanic at the Ladoga Canning plant, had an experience recently that was decidedly out of the ordinary, and once more proves that "truth is stranger than fiction."

You see, Charles and Mrs. Seyfang have a son, Harry, who went with the U. S. Engineers on the African invasion 19 months ago, and later took part in the invasion of Sicily, and then in the fighting at bloody Anzio beach-head where many American boys lost their lives.

It had been sometime since his parents had heard from their son, and they were fearful they might get word any time of his death or that he was missing in action.

A few nights ago Charles was up street, but the fate of his son weighed heavily upon his mind. Leaving a place of business he returned to his car to drive home, and—there was Harry sitting in the car waiting for his dad to show up.

"It completely knocked me off my feet," said Charles in describing his surprise and joy of having his son safe here instead of being 3,000 miles away and no word from him. Harry's mother was likewise overwhelmed with joy and relief when she saw her son.

It seems that Harry had wired from Cincinnati that he was coming but the message did not have time to arrive, and when he saw his dad's car parked at the curb, he took possession and waited, not knowing that his message had not reached his parents. He is on 22 days leave, and then must report back in North Carolina.

It was about 7 o'clock in the morning that Patrolman Walter Marshall received a call stating that a 150 pound hog was roving about in Court Street in front of Memorial Hall.

Walter hurried out, and not finding the porker where it had been reported, took a look down the alley east of Memorial Hall, and there was the hog looking for something to eat.

A number of persons assembled to watch the fun as the patrolman sought to capture his quarry.

However, Walter grew up on a farm, and knows his hogs; so he walked up close to the porker, reached out and scratched the hog in the side. Instantly the animal dropped down upon its side and grunted contentedly under such hypnotic treatment.

Calling two or three others to his aid, Walter lifted the hog up and placed it in the back end of an automobile, then drove to police headquarters.

Consulting Patrolman Al Sells, it was decided to move it to a farm near the city until the owner can identify the hog and claim it. This was done.

CHERBOURG HARBORS TO BE USED BY ALLIES

German Demolition Will Be Cleared

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 26.—(P)—Regardless of such demolitions as the Germans may have accomplished, it is expected that Cherbourg's fine harbors and extensive port facilities will be engaged in limited unloading within 24 hours after the city is firmly in Allied hands. In 10 days the port should be functioning in armies of men and supplies to feed full-scale military installations.

The Germans have been reported blowing up and firing port facilities and seeking to block the harbors, but the Allies have had plenty of experience in clearing harbors in North Africa and Italy and undoubtedly have much new machinery ready for quick installation. The 25-foot tide will permit clearing of obstacles at low tide.

TO MAKE BATHTUBS AGAIN

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—Construction of 50,000 cast iron bathtubs during July, August and September has been authorized by the War Production Board. The Eljer Co. of Salem, Ohio, was assigned to manufacture 10,000.

Dewey Piles up Enough Pledges to Win GOP Nomination as Convention Opens

Four Red Drives Smash Toward Nazi Homeland

Russian Armies Rolling Forward Over Roads Strewn With German Dead and Wrecked Equipment as Allied Master Plan Drafted at Teheran Begins To Unfold

LONDON, June 26.—(P)—Attacking with shattering force on a 250-mile front in one of history's greatest land offensives, four powerful Russian armies drove westward through the broken German "fatherland line" in White Russia today, leaving behind an island of 45,000 trapped enemy troops. These were being cut to pieces in the battle-torn streets of encircled Vitebsk.

As Russia's vital role in the Allied Teheran master plan to crush Germany this year unfolded front by front, German broadcasts noted with alarm that a fifth Red Army had struck in the Ostrov sector, 165 miles northwest of doomed Vitebsk. That would make a 325-mile front in the east, exclusive of the two Russian armies now battering Finland.

PORT IN ITALY TAKEN BY YANKS

Troops and Weapons Rushed From France Captured

By NOLAN NORGAARD

ROME, June 26.—(P)—American troops of the Fifth Army seized the port of Piombino without opposition yesterday, thereby gaining a valuable advanced supply base for continued thrust up Italy's west coast, while both American and French troops converged on the inland town of Siena, Allied headquarters announced today.

Pressing after the enemy, who was compelled to evacuate Piombino to avoid encirclement, American infantry and tanks stabbed within five miles of Suvereto and within 38 miles of the important port of Leghorn. Piombino is almost directly opposite the captured island of Elba.

A Fifth Army force stabbing toward Montieri still was locked in a bitter tank and infantry battle with desperate Nazi defenders south of Montieri and eight miles north of Massa. Boccheggiano was taken in this area.

Forces from France

Across the entire Fifth Army front Field Marshal Kesselring was employing the 88 MM. guns of his Tiger tanks as mobile artillery. Most of these weapons were from the Nazi 504th tank battalion which was rushed from Poitiers, France, three weeks ago.

An official spokesman said there was other evidence that the Germans were attempting to "bring reinforcements to the front to relieve badly battered units."

It also was disclosed that Lt. Gen. Mark Clark's troops had taken an additional 1,000 prisoners in the past few days, bringing the total captured since the start of the present offensive to 24,000, exclusive of many thousands seized by the Eighth Army.

SON OF SOLDIER OVERSEAS DROWNS AT CHILLICOTHE

COLUMBUS, June 26.—(P)—Seventeen-year-old Maxwell Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest O. Stevens of Kinnikinnick (Ross County) drowned Saturday night as he and two friends were setting turtle lines west of here. The youth's father is a technical sergeant with the U. S. Army in England.

GREAT LAKES-FLORIDA AIR SERVICE IS PROPOSED NOW

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—More direct air service from the Great Lakes to Florida was proposed today by Pennsylvania-Central Airlines in hearing before the civil Aeronautics board.

RHODE ISLAND OVER

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—Rhode Island today became the first state to reach its goal in the $16,000,000,000 Fifth War Loan Drive.

ARMY BASE HAS TO BE MOVED FROM ISLAND OFF ALASKA BY VIOLENT VOLCANO ERUPTION

ELEVENTH ARMY AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Alaska, June 26.—(P)—The eruption of Mount Cleveland, which began June 10 and is continuing, has prompted the evacuation of an army installation on Chuginadak Island and possibly has taken one life, the 11th Army Air Force announced.

Mount Cleveland is a volcano on Chuginadak Island in the islands of the four mountains group in the eastern Aleutian area. Eruptions accompanied by severe earthquakes began in full force during the afternoon of June 10. Army personnel stationed there reported rocks "as huge as automobiles" belched from the crater over the entire island.

A rescue party headed by Capt. Donald Drewes, Minneapolis, Minn., arrived that night, but while evacuation and recovery of material was going on the following morning "the entire mountain top blew off," army witnesses reported. Lava and rock were scattered over the island and the Bering Sea for miles around.

Six Jap Carriers Sunk And 747 Planes Downed When Caught in Pacific

Meanwhile, Yank Jungle Fighters Close in on Enemy Troops Trapped on Island Bases

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, June 26.—(P)—Driven into recklessness by Allied encroachments toward the Orient, the Japanese Navy has expended 747 airplanes and six flat-tops—the main elements of an entire carrier task force—upon a fruitless defense of the Marianas.

As a result of a series of great air victories, American soldiers and marines fought into northern Saipan Island today, bolstered by unprecedented security against effective enemy attack by air or sea.

Already the Americans who waded ashore at Saipan's southwestern end June 14, hold half the island and have backed the 20,000 or more defenders into the mountains of the north.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, compiling a revised list of enemy and American losses from June 10 to 23, disclosed for the first time damage to an enemy carrier and two cruisers, and conceded that a tanker previously reported sunk had been only severely damaged.

This brought the total of Japanese aircraft carriers sunk or damaged west of the Marianas during the past week to six.

The Nimitz list also disclosed 402 enemy airplanes were destroyed when Japanese carrier planes attacked American fleet units west of Guam June 18. This was an all-time record for any war theater for numbers of planes downed in one action.

Nimitz announced that carrier-borne fighter planes swept two islands in the Kazan group, 727 miles north of Saipan, June 23, sinking five enemy ships, shooting down 116 planes and probably destroying 11 more. Five Allied fighters were lost.

On Saipan's west coast, the Yanks have reached the outskirts of Garapan, peace-time Marianas capital of 10,000 population, correspondents report the heavily-bombed town quiet, possibly evacuated.

On the east coast, Americans have taken Laulau village at the end of Magiciene Bay and have advanced 500 to 800 yards along the shore against strong opposition.

A large enemy force has taken refuge in the caves and ravines of steep, thickly-wooded Mt. Tapotchau.

On Biak Island, off Dutch New Guinea, Allied troops killed 345 more Japanese June 22 and 23 to bring the total enemy dead since the island's invasion May 27 to 2,333.

Liberators destroyed a number of enemy planes on the ground at Sorong, on the northwestern tip of New Guinea. Other bombers put the Japanese airfield at Manokwari, 120 miles of Biak, out of commission.

The official revised list for the Marianas campaign showed 747 enemy planes destroyed, 30 ships sunk, 51 damaged and two probably sunk, and 13 barges destroyed.

American losses were 151 airplanes. Four American ships, including a battleship and two carriers, were damaged superficially.

These are Navy figures. Supporting strikes by land-based planes brought enemy losses for the period to at least 832 planes.

TRI-STATE TORNADO DAMAGE $3,000,000

Rehabilitation Efforts Are Continued Among Homeless

PITTSBURGH, June 25.—(P)—Rehabilitation efforts, spearheaded by the Red Cross, continued today among thousands made homeless in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland by a devastating tornado which took a toll of at least 146 lives and injured more than 1,000 Friday night.

First official estimate of property damage, meanwhile, was made known today by Jerry Wakefield, assistant national building advisor for the Red Cross, who said at Clarksburg, W. Va.: "About $3,000,000 would be a conservative estimate."

West Virginia's death toll stood at 102, Pennsylvania's at 41 and Maryland at three.

MICKEY ROONEY IN ARMY

FT. RILEY, Kans., June 26.—(P)—Mickey Rooney, 22-year-old film star, recently inducted, has arrived at Ft. Riley to begin training with a horse cavalry unit, the public relations office announced today.

Hopes for Bricker Fade But Supporters Say They Won't Give Up—Delegates Welcomed With Attack on Roosevelt by Illinois Governor—Balloting for Presidential Nominee Slated To Start Wednesday

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 26.—(P)—Republican hosts poured into vast Chicago Stadium for the party's 1944 convention today as a new tide of votes pledged to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sent the New Yorker far beyond the total of pledged and claimed delegates needed to clinch the presidential nomination.

California supplies the last minute pre-convention climax with the announcement:

PRE-CONVENTION LINE-UP

Here is the way the 1057 delegates divided their allegiance as of 12 noon (CWT) today, based on pledged and claimed strength, with 529 required to nominate a presidential candidate:

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey	681
Gov. John W. Bricker	90
Lt. Cmdr. Harold E. Stassen	36
Gov. Simeon S. Willis	35
Gen. Douglas MacArthur	1
Unpledged and unclaimed	227
Total	1,057

"California's 50 delegate votes will go for Thomas E. Dewey on the first ballot."

This action pushed the total of pledged and claimed delegates for the New Yorker to 651, for only a few minutes earlier Alabama decided to cast 12 of its 14 for Dewey.

Only 529 votes are needed to nominate, but the forces of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio continued their fight contending "it won't be decided until the roll call actually starts on the floor" Wednesday.

Convention Opens

Two huge gavel, big as oversize bung starters and weighing about five pounds apiece, were provided national chairman, Harrison E. Spangler by the Vermont delegation.

Spangler of Iowa hammered one of them on the speaker's stand at 11:02 A. M. Central War Time, 47 minutes late, but minutes passed before the hubbub could be quieted sufficiently to do business. Spangler spent the time conferring with associates on the platform and the organizer resumed playing.

Among notable on the platform was Will Hays, of the Motion Picture Industry, who was national party chairman in the Harding campaign of 1920.

High overhead hung a huge picture of Abraham Lincoln, the party's first winner, barely visible through a haze of tobacco smoke. Spangler took up his gavel pounding again.

"Please be seated," he shouted, industriously belaboring the speaker's stand.

Nobody appeared to pay any attention.

At 11:16—despairing of getting everybody seated—Spangler went ahead:

"I now declare the Republican convention of 1944 convened."

Miss Naomi Cook of Chicago led the crowd in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." The Rev. John Holland, also of Chicago, delivered the invocation.

Ohioans Discouraged

Bricker's supporters hoped for some sudden development which might yet win him the Republican presidential nomination but frankly admitted they saw no prospect of one.

With the nomination apparently assured for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, one of Bricker's chief lieutenants commented:

"Only a miracle can save the day for Governor Bricker and we are not expecting any."

Governor Bricker indicated keen disappointment over the action of the Illinois, Pennsylvania and California delegates lining up for

BENITO FILMS EXECUTION OF SON-IN-LAW CIANO

NEW YORK, June 26.—(P)—The British radio said today that Benito Mussolini had a film made of the execution of his son-in-law, Count Ciano, and other members of the former Fascist grand council sentenced to death for their "betrayal of Fascism."

Ciano, Marshal Emilio De Bono and two others were "shot from behind with revolvers" by their executioner, Pietro Caruso, Fascist police chief of Rome who now is in Allied hands, BBC said.

NAZI FANATICS ARE ROOTED OUT BY DOUGHBOYS

Americans Are Fighting House To House Through City Battered by Shells

By DON WHITEHEAD

CHERBOURG, 11:31 A. M., June 26.—(P)—Cherbourg is a rubble-filled, smoking battleground over which rolls the thunder of crashing enemy artillery shells and the sharp rattle of machineguns as the Doughboys move from house to house cleaning up the last fanatical Nazi resistance in this port city.

At 11:30 A. M. today we cannot say that Cherbourg is entirely ours.

YANKS REACH DOCKS SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

AMERICAN TROOPS HAVE REACHED CHERBOURG'S VITAL DOCKS, AND HOLD ONE-THIRD OF THE CITY COMPLETELY, SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT, BUT THE GERMANS ARE SHELLING THE CITY FROM THEIR FINAL REFUGE ON THE CAPE TO THE NORTHWEST.

The American troops who stormed up the peninsula and fought their way into the city late yesterday afternoon have virtual control, but there still are stubborn groups of Germans who have not surrendered.

Nazi Shell City

They are holed up in houses and in concrete pillboxes on the beach, fighting to the last, while from Cap De La Hague the enemy's artillery now is throwing heavy shells into the city. Their concussion is shaking the wooden box on which I am writing this dispatch a few yards from the English Channel.

Across the street is the Amiot aircraft plant or what once was a plant. Now it is a burning, charred ruins, sabotaged by the Germans in their last hours in Cherbourg.

Down the road less than 100 yards our tanks are sitting on the beach near knocked-out enemy strongpoints, blasting at machine-gun nests still holding out. The battle of machinegun fire streaks out intermittently.

The tanks helped the Doughboys fight their way through tough, scattered knots of resistance to enter the city late yesterday. When the Germans began firing from houses along the route of advance, the tanks rolled up and blasted the positions.

Yank Sharpshooting

In one house a German officer and three enlisted men lay dead with bullet holes through their foreheads, neat round holes put there by an expert Doughboy rifleman. The officer lay with a champagne bottle in one hand and his rifle in the other. He had decided to fight to the last.

Resistance is disorganized. Defenders, still manning guns, are German fanatics trapped like rats. There is no escape for them. They are the last doomed defenders of Cherbourg.

And no one should ever forget the battle for Cherbourg. It is a classic example of Doughboy courage and initiative. If there are any critics of the American soldier of the Cherbourg campaign, they simply haven't seen our troops in action.

I have seen a lot of towns fall in Africa and Sicily and Italy, but none thrilled me so much as the entrance of American troops into this city. Of all the places stormed by skill and guts, this ranks at the top of the list.

Nazi Death Spasm

Now the defenders are in their last dying spasm of resistance. Their only hope is to deny the Allies the use of the port for a little while longer.

The Americans won control of Fort du Roule late last night, thus wiping out one of the enemy's strongest positions in the perimeter of defenses. Holed up behind this great concrete and steel pile, the Germans were able to hold out even while those behind them were being overrun.

But even yet all the Germans have not been dug out of the maze of tunnels and interconnected

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

(Substituting for DeWitt Mackenzie)
Vice President Wallace, with his expressed hope of a Sino-Russian boundary condition similar to that of the U. S.-Canadian, was greeted in Chungking as a messenger of good will from Russia, which he visited first, as well as from America.

Chungking's general supposition, dispatches say, is that he would not have voiced such a view without something to go on.

Chiang Kai-Shek followed with assurances that the idea suits China, since she is without "dreams of domination" or "territorial ambitions."

There is no criticism of such principles. But their expression immediately reminds us of some relative facts which might as well be kept in mind, because China already is involved in some very knotty territorial questions on that very border.

It is doubtful that Stalin has told anyone that he will sit back with folded hands while Chiang re-incorporates Outer Mongolia into any cohesive Chinese state. Yet Chiang has said, in his book, "China's Destiny," that she must do just that, along with Sinkiang where matters are on a sort of teeter-totter between Chinese and Russian influences.

Outer Mongolia has gone her own way, establishing an autonomous government and closer relations with Russia, which granted a mutual assistance pact as to a sovereign power. If Chungking tries to force her back into the fold there may be a disturbance the like of which our Canadian border hasn't seen since its final establishment.

Russia, with more rich, undeveloped territory than any other state, can truly say that she seeks no territorial aggrandizement. But Russia wants secure borders, and the dangling strategic position of Vladivostok has irked her for many, many years. The peace-settlers are not likely to escape that problem.

Chiang's highly centralized government, under which he feels China must operate for some years while she "prepares for Democracy," may run into serious trouble with the millions of northern Chinese Communists (who are not to be confused with Russian Communists) when both are rid of the Japanese. Should civil war develop, as many predict, Russia might sit idly by, but it would be a decidedly alert by-sitting.

Good-principled dreams such as this and the others of the old but very generalized "Asiatic Charter" discussed by Chiang and Wallace are fine. Impractical desires always precede, for a while, any progress. But don't expect any gun-less Sino-Russian border or Utopian Asia yet awhile.

T GASOLINE COUPONS TO EXPIRE JUNE 30

Applications for New Ones Should Be Made Now

Operators of commercial trucks using "T" gasoline coupons were reminded today by the Fayette County War Price and Rationing Board that they must obtain their 3rd quarter rations by July 1.

Old "T" coupons issued in March for the second quarter will not be accepted after July 1.

Every person operating under certificate of War Necessity should apply to their board, at once presenting their certificate, in sufficient time to enable the Rationing Boards to mail their rations before July 1, the board chairman suggested.

TWO CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE OF PROBATE JUDGE

Attorneys Rell G. Allen and R. M. Winegardner Take Out Petitions

So far two petitions for the office of probate judge have been taken out at the board of elections, one by Rell G. Allen and the other by R. M. Winegardner.

The petitions were taken out after Probate Judge Otis B. Core recently announced he would not be a candidate for the office, and inasmuch as the law requires that a Probate Judge must be an attorney, the number of candidates is necessarily limited.

Allen formerly served parts of three terms as probate judge, the first time being elected to the office in 1916, and resigned when Company M and other National Guard units, were ordered to the Mexican border to hunt down Villa and his bandits.

He was re-elected to the office while on duty on the Mexican border and resumed office upon his return.

When the 166th Infantry was called into service in the first World War he again resigned and went with the Rainbow Division to France, where he saw active service on the battle front.

When he resigned to go overseas, his father, Frank M. Allen was named and served until Col. Allen returned from service. His father resigned and he then served out the unexpired term. He is a Republican.

Winegardner was formerly assistant attorney general of Ohio, has been engaged in the practice of law in this city a number of years, coming here from Columbus. He was a candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket at the recent primary.

Winegardner has been prominent in Democratic politics for a number of years, both in the county and state.

He could not be reached Monday forenoon, for a statement regarding his candidacy for Probate Judge.

YANKS ENTER CHERBOURG AND ROOT OUT FANATICAL NAZIS HIDING IN RUINS

chambers of the deep fortress. During the last 24 hours the Americans have taken 3,340 prisoners, and hundreds of others were streaming into the prisoners' cages today.

Doughboys mop up pockets of opposition in Cherbourg while the Germans gathered the remnants of their scattered troops on the Cap de la Hague. Many Germans overrun in the swift advance were trying to make their way to that cape.

Patrols pushing into the central part of the city met small arms fire from a few snipers, and small knots of resistance, but the backbone of enemy opposition was smashed completely. Under gray skies American troops were cleaning up the town.

The cleanup of the prize port came as the British on the eastern Normandy front smashed into Nazi defenses between Caen and Tilly-sur-Seuilles. They seized Fontenay LePresnel, two miles east of Tilly, and threatened Tessel and Bretteville, 2½ to 3 miles to the southeast.

Big Guns Support
Artillery, one unit to every eight yards, supported this sweeping assault by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's tanks and troops. Warships have joined in bombarding the Germans east of Tilly, a front dispatch said.

German E-boats were beaten off by Allied destroyers in attempted attacks last night against invasion convoys off the eastern end of Cherbourg peninsula, and minesweepers in the Barfleur area cleared the area around the cape, escorted by the U. S. destroyers Walke and Forrest.

Supreme headquarters in this morning's communique said "fighting everywhere" in the port of Cherbourg was "extremely severe," but that the full liberation "cannot be long delayed." The Doughboys were rooting out suicide squads of Germans as they neared the end of a fierce, five-day battle to free the great supply port.

Three-way Assault
The Allies had all but captured their greatest prize of the Normandy invasion, the third most important port of France and a trans-Atlantic base to feed major drives into the continent, to Paris, perhaps—or Berlin.

(The German radio gave conflicting reports on the battle for Cherbourg. A French language broadcast today informed the people of occupied Europe the city fell at nine o'clock last night (3 P. M. EWT), "after resistance of unheard of violence." Shortly thereafter, however, a German DNB news agency informed the people of Germany that fighting still was going on in the city.)

Tending to confirm the idea that Berlin does not know what is happening in Cherbourg was a German International Bureau dispatch shortly before noon today (6 A. M. EWT), which said the assault against the port started at 8 o'clock last night and that "the town of Cherbourg is in Allied hands."

In the center of the beachhead front Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery pursued an infantry attack south of Tilly-sur-Seuilles, driving forward two miles to the edge of the Tessel-Bretteville woods.

Port Being Battered
The heavy fighting in Cherbourg was fast destroying the famous trans-Atlantic port, although Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley tried to spare the town itself by directing artillery fire and naval bombardment only on forts and German strongpoints.

Isolated pockets of resistance still were holding out in the northeastern tip of the peninsula but the American advance had overflowed the entire sector and it was just a question of mopping up. Some Germans were entrenched deeply underground in strong fortifications and had to be blown out.

Fighting also was heavy in the British sector on the east wing of the beachhead front, where German armored and mobile strength was being held up by Montgomery's local attacks and threats to break through.

The struggle was particularly bitter in the Tilly-sur-Seuilles sector, where the British made a strong infantry attack, knocking out at least half a dozen German tanks and advancing two miles south of Fontenay.

But the Germans still held out in Fontenay, where street fighting ing still was going on, field catches said.

HELL DIVING'S HIS JOB ..LENDING IS YOURS!

WITH guns blazing and a prayer in his stout heart, this American fighter is hell-bent on destruction of our enemies. HE is not thinking of how little or how much he's doing to help win the war. For him, the chips are down; but his fighting spirit is as high as the heavens from which his plane is diving.

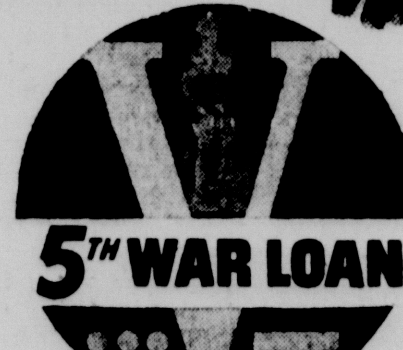

In cramped foxholes and disease-infested jungles, on sun-scorched beachheads—under and over the seven seas—other Americans are matching his courage. And their name is legion. They KNOW that war is a bloody business; that their lives, as well as yours, are at stake.

Is it asking too much of you to back these men up by buying more, and still more, War Bonds? There can be but one answer. You'll find it in your own heart.

And remember, too, as you dig deeper than ever before into your pocketbook or cash surplus, that the Fifth War Loan MUST raise 16 billion dollars. It is the greatest financing drive the world has ever known... to back up the greatest invasion drive the world has ever known.

Back the Attack! - BUY MORE THAN BEFORE!

And Here Are 5 MORE Reasons for Buying EXTRA Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the war.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

No Tended Herds Here

Two prominent citizens, a high public official, and the head of a vital war industry which almost singlehandedly saved the country from a critical magnesium shortage, give voice to opposing philosophies of government which confront the American people. OPA Administrator Chester Bowles, commenting on the possibility of returning to the freedom of prewar days, says: "The role of government must be greatly reduced after the war. . . But . . . there is far too easy an assumption on the part of many that we have only to strip off controls and we'll go right back to all-out peacetime operations without a hitch. There are two things wrong with that view. It won't be easy—and we can't go back." He declared flatly that government must always play the "central role" in the economy. Dr. Willard H. Dow, president of the Dow Chemical Company, in urging prompt termination of government domination of the people after the war, pointed out that: "We are being warned against the dangers of freedom. . . All of which is rot. We are being told that . . . we must ease out of controls and that chaos would follow their sudden ending. By the very nature of our present controls we cannot ease out of them. We can only ease into permanent control. . . Whatever may be the seeming dangers of throwing off our controls, they are as nothing in contrast to the dangers of being merely a tended herd."

The people have accepted without a murmur government dictation because they believed it was necessary to the prosecution of the war. But officialism, having had a taste of supreme authority over the private citizen, and in spite of protestations to the contrary, wants to hang onto it as long as possible. Many persons apparently believe that continuance of dictatorial government is preferable to the risks of operating under a free economy. Their efforts can be seen in attempts to expand permanent government control over electric power, mining, oil, retail distribution, farming, and practically every other activity by which the American people have secured the highest standard of living and the greatest freedom for the individual of any nation in the world.

If ever a free people demonstrated the worthiness of their institutions, we have. No nation which believes in big government would ape, can show such progress, independence, and production, as the United States. When the choice must be made between the dangers of freedom or government dictation, the heritage of America leaves no alternative. We must choose freedom. We do not want people regimented into tended herds in this land.

No Soft Peace

Taking and holding the Cherbourg peninsula was a hard and bitter job. But our men did it. Many will not return. Nor from Italy, nor China nor the Pacific. They bought and paid for every foot of gain. Shall we deny to those who paid the final price, or to those who paid almost as heavily, the victory for which they have laid down life or wholeness?
All the nations now dread more war.

2. Owen Wister.
3. Sir Walter Scott.

War is terrible, abnormal. It turns everything upside down. It makes killing a virtue, makes merit of destruction.

For these very reasons the United Nations will be sorely tempted to take a peace less than full victory before long. But they must not do it. Germany's homeland was unscathed in the last war. She prepared for the next as one who never knew the full effect of the past. She must not prepare again. The same is true for Japan.

We, the decent, nonaggressive peoples of the earth, have been forced to fight. We do fight, and we win. But we fight decently. We must make decent peace. Sadism is out. We must never for a moment lower ourselves to the levels of the beasts who have endangered us. But we must protect ourselves.

Protection for the future is at the same time our right and our duty. There must be no soft peace. No invitation to a third World War. A stern, strong, just peace must be our aim, enduring to the end. We may take no more. We must take no less.

Rockets
It is natural for the Nazis to brag about their new "secret weapon." With their inferiority complex, as Hamlet said about actors on the stage, they will "blab everything." And what the Supermen don't tell, the world soon finds out anyhow.

Their new rocket bombs, it must be admitted, are no joke. The Germans have produced a "rocket bomb" which can soar across the Channel into Britain under its own power, propelled like the Fourth of July "sky rockets" with which Americans are familiar. It can also carry a ton of explosives which, in case of a lucky hit, may do a good deal of damage. But any secrecy there may have been about such a weapon obviously could not last long.

It has been a part of the history of this war that any new miracle of destruction devised by one side has soon been adopted by the other side. And in any such exchange of new methods of destruction, the Allies with their superior facilities soon beat the Germans at their own game.

Ways of Treating Corns and Warts

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
THOSE COMMON and familiar disorders—corns, warts, etc.—afflict the high and the low, the rich and the poor, the young and the old. There is probably not one human being who lives his life without having had some experience with a corn, a wart, a blemish or some such blemish on what would otherwise be a perfect masterpiece of Nature's handiwork.

Most people think they understand all about them, but if they do they have grasped the fundamental principles of a large section of knowledge about disease processes, because these innocent and simple blemishes are pathologic structures of rather intricate pattern.

A corn is an example of the process of hypertrophy, or overgrowth. Hypertrophy is usually due to overwork and the overwork that occurs in the case of the corn is that of too much pressure. The skin is designed to resist pressure, but in the spots where there is little supporting soft tissue underneath and over a bony prominence and the pressure is regular and recurrent or continuous the resulting reaction on the part of the skin is to build up layer after layer of its hard keratinizing elements. In other words I am describing the process that occurs to make a corn on the little toe where the shoe presses on it. If the pressure is removed, Nature reverses herself and her processes and the corn goes away. And that is the best treatment for corns—get a well-fitting pair of shoes.

Removal of Corns
In most cases, however, some temporary treatment precedes this fundamental treatment and is necessary because of the pain the corn causes. Paring the top of the corn off with a razor blade gives temporary relief, but the ideal thing is to remove the central heavy core. But that, to coin a phrase, is easier said than done. Specialists claim to be able to do it by dissection after the foot has been immersed in hot water for a quarter of an hour. But a warning should be inserted that it is better for the subject not to try to do this himself. Nature has so arranged things that the anatomical position a guy gets himself into when he is about to remove his own corn is just as awkward as trying to construct a sentence like this to elucidate it.
Corn plasters are designed to soften the corn so that the core can be removed. The basic ingredient of practically all corn plasters is salicylic acid. This softens and macerates skin, especially horny skin.

But the fundamental treatment, as was indicated above, is the relief of the cause—poorly fitting shoes.

Treating Warts
Warts consist of overgrowth of skin, but of a different kind from corns. They are not hypertrophic, but new growths. Probably most of them are due to infection of the skin with a virus. This is indicated by the observation that they are contagious. This is particularly true of plantar warts on the bottom of the feet.
There are two ways of treating warts. Each has its advantages and disadvantages. One way is aimed at destruction of the wart by surgery, curetting, X-ray, diathermy or caustics. The advantage of these methods is that they are successful; the disadvantage is the trouble, pain and expense. X-ray, however, is not painful and is a piece of modern magic. You expose the wart to the X-ray on Friday, June the 30th. On July 22nd you all of a sudden notice it's gone. That is all there is to it.
The other ways of treating warts are painless, inexpensive, but most uncertain. They range all the way from wearing charms to the use of lime water. The most reliable of all is to have the druggist give you a small half-ounce bottle of 40 per cent formalin. Carry it around in your pocket. Whenever you think of it moisten the cork and dab it on the wart. One day you will notice there is no wart to dab it on. That is, you will notice there is no wart if this remedy is successful in your case.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. L.: What is the action of phenolphthalein taken in conjunction with mineral oil? I was told by a doctor that it had the same action on the body as carboic acid.
Answer: Phenolphthalein is a cathartic, quite powerful and sometimes severe on the system, but it has no action like carboic acid on the body.
E. P.: Our little boy, 2 years old, eats such things as linoleum, paint from furniture and window sills, paper, plaster and other things. What shall we do?
Answer: Often children do this because they are hungry. Better break it up as there is danger of lead poisoning. Two children have been brought in our hospital with lead poisoning from this source in the last six months.

"CALAMITY TOWN" by ELLERY QUEEN
CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR
There was no slightest doubt in Ellery's mind about the Haight letters. They had been written by Jim Haight, and that's all there was to it. He wondered what Judge Martin was up to with the unreliable Mr. Grenville.
He found out at once. "Is it your considered opinion, Mr. Grenville," purred Judge Eli, "that it would be easy, or difficult, to forge Mr. Haight's handwriting?"
"Oh, very easy," said Mr. Grenville.
"Could you forge Mr. Haight's handwriting?"
"Certainly."
"Could you forge Mr. Haight's handwriting here and now?"
"Well," said Mr. Grenville apologetically, "I'd have to study the handwriting a while—say two minutes."
Bradford was on his feet with a bellow, and there was a long, audible argument before Judge Newbold. Finally, the Court allowed the demonstration and the courtroom sat on the edge of its collective seat.
Lorenzo Grenville squinted at the photostat for about two minutes. Then he wrote swiftly on the blank paper.
"I'd do better," he said, "if I had my own pen to work with."
Defense Counsel Martin glanced earnestly at what his witness had written, and then, with a smile, passed the sheet around the jury box, together with the photostat of Jim's undisputed handwriting. From the amazement on the jurors' faces at they compared the photostat with Grenville's forgery, Ellery knew the blow had told.
On cross-examination, Carter Bradford had only one question to ask the witness.
"Mr. Grenville, how many years has it taken you to learn the art of forging handwriting?"
It seemed Mr. Grenville had spent most of his life at it.
Victor Carlati to the stand. Yes, he is the owner of a roadhouse on Route 16 called the Hot Spot.
Q.—Do you know the defendant, James Haight?
A.—I've seen him around.
Q.—Has he ever visited your night club?
A.—Yeah.
Q.—Drinking?
A.—Well, drink or two. Once in a while. It's legal.
Q.—Now, Mr. Carlati, there has been testimony here that James Haight allegedly admitted to Mrs. Haight that he had "lost money gambling" in your establishment. What do you know about this?
A.—It's a lie.
Q.—You mean James Haight has never gambled in your night club?
A.—Sure he never. Nobody ever.
Q.—Has the defendant borrowed any money from you?
A.—Now.
Q.—Does the defendant owe you a single dollar?
A.—Not a chip.
Q.—As far as you know, has the defendant ever "lost" any money in your establishment? Gambling or any other way?
A.—Maybe some dame may have clipped him while he was feeling happy, but he never shelled out one cent in my place except for drinks.
Q.—You may cross-examine, Mr. Bradford.
Mr. Bradford murmurs, "With pleasure."
Q.—Carlati, is it against the law to operate a gambling resort?
A.—Who says I operate a gambling place?
Q.—Nobody "says," Carlati. Just answer my question.
A.—Prove it. Go ahead. I ain't gonna sit here and take no—
Judge Newbold: The witness will refrain from such remarks, or he will lay himself open to contempt. Answer the question.
A.—What question, Judge?
Mr. Bradford: Never mind. Do you, or do you not, run roulette, faro, craps, and other gambling games in the back room of your so-called "night club"?
A.—Am I supposed to answer questions like that? It's an insult, Judge, an' I ain't gonna sit here and take no—
Judge Newbold: One more remark like that—
Witness Carlati: See here, I got my rights and I got plenty of friends, and they'll see to it that Vic Carlati ain't going to be no fall guy for some kid of a D.A.—
Judge Newbold: The witness is held in contempt of court. Bailiff, take charge of the prisoner.
Mr. Carlati roars as the bailiff approaches: "Where's my mouthpiece? This ain't Nazee Goimanz!"
Nora took the oath and began to testify in a choked voice. Surely the woman Jim Haight had tried to do in would be against him. But Nora was not against him. She made a superb witness, defending her husband from every charge. She reiterated her love for him and her unquestioning faith in his innocence. Over and over.
Nora's eyes kept coming back to the object of her testimony, a scant few feet away, who sat with his face lowered, wearing a dull red mask of shame, blinking at the tips of his unpolished shoes.
Defense Counsel Martin, who had put her on the stand for her psychological value, did not touch upon the two poisoning attempts preceding New Year's Eve.
Carter Bradford waived cross-examination and the opportunity to quiz her on those attempts. Perhaps Bradford felt he would lose more in good will by grilling Nora than by letting her go.
Nora was to have been Judge Martin's last witness; and indeed he was fumbling with some papers at the defense table, as if undecided whether to proceed or not, when Pat signaled him furiously from inside the railing. Then the old gentleman nodded with an unhappy look and said: "I call Patricia Wright to the stand."
Mr. Nora sat forward in the grip of tension.
Obviously at a loss where to begin, Judge Martin began a cautious reconnaissance, as if seeking a clue. But Pat took the reins out of his hands almost at once. As a defense witness, Pat played squarely into the hands of the People. The more she said, the more damage she did to Jim's cause. She painted her brother-in-law as a scoundrel, told how he had humiliated Nora, quarreled with her incessantly . . .
Before she was half through, the courtroom was indeed agog. Counsel Martin was trying frantically to head her off. Nora was gaping at her sister as if she were seeing her for the first time. Hermy and John F. slumped lower and lower in their seats, like two melting waxworks. Judge Newbold interrupted Pat during a denunciation of Jim and an avowal of her hatred for him.
"Miss Wright, are you aware that you were called as a witness for the defense?"
"I'm sorry, Your Honor. But I can't sit here and see all this hush-hush going on when we all know Jim Haight is guilty!"
"I move—" began Judge Martin in an outraged bellow.
"Young woman—" declared Judge Newbold angrily.
But Pat rushed on. "And that's what I told Bill Ketcham only last night—" "What!"
The explosion came from Judge Newbold, Eli Martin, and Carter Bradford simultaneously. For a moment the room was plunged in an abyss of surprise, then the walls cracked, and Bedlam piled upon Bedlam, so that Judge Newbold pounded with his third gavel of the trial, and the bailiff ran up and down shushing people.
"Your Honor," said Judge Martin above the din, "I want it to go on record here and now that the statement made by my witness a moment ago comes to me as an absolute shock. I had no faintest idea that—" "Just a moment, just a moment, Counsel," interrupted Judge Newbold in a strangled voice. "Miss Wright!"
"Yes, Your Honor," asked Patty in a bewildered way, as if she couldn't imagine what all the fuss was about.
"Did I hear you correctly? Did you say you told Bill Ketcham something last night?"
"Yes, yes, Your Honor," said Pat respectfully. "And Bill agreed with me—" "I object!" shouted Carter Bradford. "She's got it in for me! This is a put-up job!"
Miss Wright turned innocent eyes on the Prosecutor.
"One moment, Mr. Bradford!" Judge Newbold leaned far forward on the Bench to question the witness. "Bill Ketcham agreed with you, did he? What did he agree with you about? What else happened last night?"
"Well, Bill said Jim was guilty, all right, and if I'd promise to, Pat blushed—" "Well, if I'd promise him a certain something, he'd see to it that Jim got what was coming to him. Said he'd talk to the others on the jury, too—being an insurance man, Bill said, he could sell anything. He said I was his dream girl, and for me he'd climb the highest mountain—" "Silence in the court!" bellowed Judge Newbold.
And there was silence.
"Now, Miss Wright," said Judge Newbold grimly, "are we to understand that you had this conversation last night with the William Ketcham who is Juror Number 7 in this trial?"
"Yes, Your Honor," said Pat, her eyes wide. "Is anything wrong with that? I'm sure if I had known—" "The rest was lost in uproar. "Bailiff, clear the room!" screamed Judge Newbold.

Parade of the Oscars in Movieland

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The title role in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" is being taken by Ailanthus Glandulosa, and finding her—or it—was something like that Scarlett O'Hara business.
The tree that grew outside Francine Nolan's window in Betty Smith's book was identified as a variety of Chinese sumac, better known as the Tree of Heaven. Native of China, brought to England in 1761 and thence to the east coast of America, it thrives where other trees get discouraged—even in a Brooklyn tenement district. The studio found plenty of them in nearby San Fernando valley, then concentrated its search on the more "glamorous" specimens.
The tree, and assorted players, are being directed by Ella Kazan, who'll have $1,000,000 or more to spend on the picture. Mr. Kazan should be relishing this, for the last time he directed a movie its total cost was $7.
Ten years ago, for practice, he directed a two-reeler, "Pie in the Sky," with the Long Island city dump for a set, himself and his partner producer Ralph Steiner, serving as actors and cameramen. The film they used was a gift, and the only item of expense was developing the negative. They bribed a pal in a film laboratory to work overtime one night, which is where the $7 went. The little picture was admired, but Kazan didn't get to Hollywood on it. He got here by directing three Broadway hits, "Skin of Our Teeth," "One Touch of Venus," and "Harriet."
DOMESTIC ITEM: Anne Revere, "Bernadette's" mother, has a kitchen whose walls look mottled as though camouflaged. It's not deliberate, she says—it's just that her pressure cooker, of which she is quite fond, has a habit of exploding at odd moments.
Spring in California has brought everything into the open, including movie location companies. And nature is humming.

SUMMER STYLES TRIM FOR WORK--ALLURING FOR PLAY

Left, striped skirt, solid color jacket; center, tropical print formal; right, brown silk shantung with blue. Trim and neat, smart and cool looking are the summer frocks for working women. But in the evening our girls go glamorous. Colors are used, but with care, and tastefully combined. Green and white is the color scheme of the first model. The stripes on the skirts are stitched on, and the solid color jacket with single fastening is embroidered with a white scroll motif. The double-buckled hat is green. The other daytime costume is gunmetal brown silk shantung, and it has a simulated bolero bodice and dickey front of ice blue shantung. The skirt is flared for front fullness and the waist is given a small look with a sash tied belt of the blue. A vivid tropical print is combined with white jersey in the formal dress. The print has a rose and green flower pattern. The bodice is shirred up the center front and appliqued with separate blossoms from the print. The designer suggests a velvet coiffure flower and gold leaf earrings for accent to this alluring dine and dance frock.

Bucky Registers Win No. 12 As Reds Split Doubleheader

By JOE REICHLER
(By the Associated Press)
It looks like there may be at least eight 20-game winning pitchers in the major leagues this year. It is even possible that one, Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds, may become the first hurler in 10 years to win 30 victories in one season.

According to the ratio of their games won and the number of games played by their respective teams, Walters should just hit the 30 mark and George Munger of the St. Louis Cardinals, Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants, Hank Borowy of the New York Yankees, Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox, Hal Newhouse of the Detroit Tigers and Bill Dietrich of the Chicago White Sox should gain at least 20 triumphs.

Not since 1934 has a pitcher notched 30 victories. Dizzy Dean reached that figure in pitching the St. Louis Cards to a pennant, and a world championship over the Detroit Tigers in the fall classic.

The majors haven't had eight 20-game winners since 1939.

No. 12 for Bucky

Walters gained his 12th triumph yesterday as the Reds won the first game of a doubleheader from Chicago 4-3. Claude Passeau of the Cubs blanked the Reds in the nightcap, 5-0.

Munger won his 10th game against only one defeat, as the Cards won the opener from the Pirates, 2-1. Sewell failed to win his 10th, bowing to his younger rival. A two-run homer by Spud Davis in the ninth gave the Cubs a 5-5 tie in the final, halted by curfew at 6:50 P. M.

Voiselle gained an even split for the Giants, 4-1, limiting Boston to three hits in the second game, after the Braves had grabbed the first contest, 5-1. The victory was the young right-hander's 10th against eight losses.

Borowy eased out a close 4-3 decision for his 10th win as the Yankees swept a twin bill from Philadelphia. Ernie Bonham, after three weeks of idleness due to a strained side, pitched a 5-2 victory in the second game.

-Spying- On Sports

DEWEY PILES UP PLEDGES SUFFICIENT TO WIN AS GOP CONVENTION OPENS

Dewey, though he declined to discuss the matter publicly.

Former Gov. Myers V. Cooper, one of the leading Bricker lieutenants, said "the city of it all is that the actual Bricker strength never will be shown on the convention floor."

Delegates Welcomed

Gov. Green accused the Roosevelt administration of "political meddling" with Army and Navy heads in the conduct of the war and pledged that the Republicans, if victorious in November, will give the professional fighting men a free hand.

Welcoming the delegates to the Republican National Convention, Governor Green denounced "New Dealers" as seeking to remain in power on a "win the war" slogan and asserted:

"The winning of the war is upmost in the mind of every American. There is no 'Win the War' party in America and public opinion has so properly rebuked the attempts of the New Dealers to grab that slogan that they have almost completely abandoned it."

He praised the delegates as "unswayed by the weird pretense that an 'indispensable man' exists" and said they were dedicated to work not only for "the heralded objectives of the Four Freedoms" but resolved to re-establish here in America the 33 freedoms guaranteed to all citizens under the constitution."

Draft Dewey Drive

But the so-called "Draft Dewey" drive, and the unflinching fight of Governor Bricker to emerge on top, dwarfed speeches and glittering formalities as the vast Chicago Stadium filled with roaring thousands for the party's first wartime convocation since the war between the states.

State after state, topped by New York with 93 votes, announced following caucuses the decision to go for Dewey when balloting begins Wednesday.

Pennsylvania threw in its 70; Kansas, 19; Massachusetts 30 of its 35. California arranged a caucus amid predictions by delegate leaders of a solid 50 for Dewey. In all, 17 more state delegations planned to take a stand by nightfall. One was Iowa—home of Chairman Spangler—which recessed Sunday unagreed.

Bricker Won't Quit

After mighty Pennsylvania announced support for Dewey, reports spread that Governor Bricker might be approached with a suggestion that he consider withdrawing in advance.

He let it be known that he had no such intention, saying: "It is a matter of principle with me. I intend to continue on the same basis as when I started."

The Ohio delegation decided yesterday to ask convention lead-

Dozen Horses Trained Here Racing on Grand Circuit

More than a dozen trotters and pacers and at least four drivers will be performing for the crowds at the Grand Circuit meeting which opened at North Randall, just outside of Cleveland, Monday.

Harry Short, who polished off the training of his stable of 15 at the Fairground track here this spring, took 12 of his horses up from Marion; C. H. Hayes and Son who trained three here, went to North Randall with their good 3-year-old pacer, Filly Direct; Bob Valley took his trio while Ernie Smith sent his horses back here for a rest after the Marion meeting but he went on to the Cleveland track where he has contracts to drive for several prominent owners. A. G. Gordon, who has been training a trio here and racing at Marion, did not take any horses to North Randall, but was expected to go there and possibly do some driving.

These horses and drivers, and many other top flight performers will be here for the Fayette County Fair the last week in July.

Ten two-year-olds, only one of whom has been to the races before, will get the starter's "Go!" in the $2,000 inaugural trot, the headline event of the North Randall opening.

A colt called Projectile, who won a heat and then finished second in his debut at the recent Marion meeting, is the only entrant with any previous competition, but those who back their candidates with cash maintain he's not in the same class with Doctor Spencer, a $5,600 purchase of the E. J. Baker Stable, or Morris Mite, for whom C. M. Saunders of Toledo paid out $11,000, or Ruth's Guy, a filly owned by Aaron Williams of Corning, N. Y.

The probable favorite is Doctor Spencer, who munches his oats in the same barn with Volo Song, last year's Hambletonian winner. Harry Fitzpatrick, who led the nation's reinsmen last year in winning heats, will guide the Doctor in today's event.

The remainder of today's card includes the Buckeye 13 Pace, carrying a $1,000 purse, the Akron Pacer 21 Pace, also with purse of $1,000, and a 17 class trot, with a $500 purse.

With the exception of Saturdays and the July Fourth card, all races will be twilight affairs.

after he dropped to 338 on the second, 315 on the third, 250 on the fourth and 57 on the fifth.

There were 1,000 votes in 1940. Wendell L. Willkie was third on the first ballot with 105 while Senator Robert Taft of Ohio ran second with 189—but Willkie received 998 on the sixth and final ballot with two delegates absent.

Senator Taft, a Bricker leader, recalled this in urging disregard of claims and informal pledges.

Dewey has talked with Governor Warren by telephone within the last few days. This led to reports, unconfirmed here, that a topic of discussion may have been Warren's availability for the vice presidential nomination.

Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of "Big Jim," a former Democratic national chairman, describing herself as "a spectator," said she'll vote for the Republican candidate if President Roosevelt runs again.

The platform drafters were reported considering a proposal to promise returning members of the armed forces a voice in the nation's postwar foreign policies. Such a declaration, regarded in some quarters as a bid for the service vote, was understood to have been offered as a part of a peace plank which already has drawn the criticism of New Jersey's Governor Walter E. Edge, who called its pledge of "peace forces" to maintain security after the war ambiguous and "weasel-worded."

A group of governors held a closed meeting last night to discuss domestic and foreign policies, arousing some speculation that they were dissatisfied with the platform drafting.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, June 26.—AP—Reports the government may undertake a cotton purchase control program to guarantee producers parity prices gave the grain futures market a firm undertone today despite the fact the southwest is harvesting a record crop of winter wheat.

Fear that the recently passed price control bill may also require such support for grain prices led shorts to cover but opinion of the trade was divided and there was some hedge selling of wheat futures. Uncertainty over provisions of the measure curtailed the volume of trading.

Rye was firm in sympathy with higher cotton and the wheat market. Wheat closed -1/4 higher than Saturday, July 1.56 1/2-3/4. Oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, July 75 1/2. Rye was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, July 1.09 1/2-3/4. Barley was up 1/4, July 1.12 1/2.

$413,260 TOTAL BOND SALES ON SLATE MONDAY

Equipment Need in Battle Pictured by Correspondent Ernie Pyle

Fayette County's bond buying crept over the $400,000 mark with $413,260.89 on record Monday morning. Total sales jumped to 767.

Commercial purchases of $149,849.50 and individual sales of $263,411.39 show where the dividing line of bond buying lay.

The county's standing among the 22 in the area was advanced today on both E bond and total sales quota.

The E bond standing was 16th and the percent of quota raised jumped from 21st to 16th place. There are $63,567.89 worth of E bond sales chalked up here now.

W. R. Moats, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' National Farm Loan Association announced that $10,000 in bonds has been allotted to Fayette County by the Federal Land Bank of Louisville from its $2,000,000 bond purchase.

Moats explained that the allocation to each county was on a basis of Federal Land Bank loans held by farmers in the county.

Cost of Equipment There may be some bond buyers who have the comfortable feeling that when they have bought War Bonds to equal the cost of a jeep, plane or PT boat, that the shiny new equipment he has sponsored will go on knocking out the enemy until the war is over.

In his dispatch of June 11, the famous commentator Ernie Pyle, with the American Forces in France, has pointed-up the tremendous cost of invasion in equipment which is hit or rendered useless within a very short time.

Part of his dispatch tells of— THE GIANTIC AND PITIFUL LITTER OF WRECKAGE ALONG MILES OF SHORE LINE. SUBMERGED TANKS AND UPTURNED BOATS AND BURNED TRUCKS AND SHELL-SHATTERED JEEPS—And sad little personal belongings, strewn all over on these bitter sands.

Fayette County purchases so far are only a little more than the price of one Navy Mariner patrol bomber. Just one bomber. In battle, tanks that are put out of commission have to be heeled over in the mud. There isn't time to stop and repair them. Planes shot into the ocean can't be brought to the surface and used again.

It's the bonds we should buy which will bring more tank replacements off the assembly lines to replace those exploded by anti-tank shells. It's the bonds we should buy which will keep invasion skies dark with our aircraft.

1ST CAP CLASS MEETING WILL BE WEDNESDAY

Airplane Engine and Military Instruction Is Scheduled

The first class meeting of the Civil Air Patrol flight here will be Wednesday at 8 P. M. in room 114 of the high school building.

An increased enrollment, nearly three dozen men and women, will greet Lt. Henry Finkbone, of the CAP who will give the group a few pointers about the purpose of CAP before the two hour class begins.

Wednesday night an hour of military drill, conducted by Capt. Virgil Sexton, commanding officer of State Guard Company D here, and an hour of airplane engine instruction, taught by Arthur Engle, high school airplane mechanics instructor, are in store.

More applications will be taken at the meeting, Miss Ann Patton, who was responsible for the organization of the first meeting, said.

The course is 150 hours, usually in two hour class periods. At the end of the course, CAP members will have without cost to themselves a foundation knowledge of ground work in aeronautics. Navigation, airplane engine and structure, meteorology, civil air regulations, and theory of flight are class room subjects. Military drill is also an essential part of the training.

The first meeting here was June 14 when Lt. Anson Thayer, CAP squadron group commander from Middletown, explained the purposes of CAP.

Let It Rain

Let It Rain
I've Got a Leak Proof Roof!
YES sir! My new Logan-Long roof is leak-proof because it's made of pure asphalt—the most water-proof material in the world. And, what's more, it's fire-resistant, because the asphalt is surfaced with hard, closely-packed roofing granules. My new roof was applied right over the old one, so I saved the insulation value of the old material. This helps to keep my home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. It doesn't take long to put that new roof on—better have your present roof inspected—free of charge—no obligation. Don't wait until that little leak gets any bigger, for a real big downpour will make you sorry you waited too long. Call us on the phone now, whether it's raining or shining, and get our free inspection and advice as to your present roof.
